

Journal of Political Thought: Submission Guidelines

The Journal of Political Thought accepts original, unpublished student work related to political thought, broadly understood. We accept papers on topics ranging from, but not limited to, political philosophy, the history of political thought, the intersection of public policy and normative theory, and contemporary social theory. Submissions may be papers written for any purpose, including courses, but must be entirely the author's own work. There is no limit to the number of papers an individual may submit.

The deadline for submitting a paper to be considered for the Spring, 2015 issue is Saturday, March 28.

Papers should be submitted as .doc or .docx files via email to yalepoliticalthought@gmail.com. Please include the word "Submission" in the subject of your email.

In your email please include your name, university and degree program, expected graduation year, phone number, and major and/or department.

To facilitate blind review of submissions, papers should not include any identifying information, including the author's name or the course or professor the paper was originally written for.

Formatting and Length

- Papers should be between 10 and 25 pages, double-spaced, Times New Roman, 12-point font, with one-inch margins.
- Citations and notes may follow any widely recognized academic citation style (such as The Chicago Manual of Style or the APSA Style Manual for Political Science) but must be consistent throughout the paper.
- Each page should be numbered in the top right-hand corner.
